

Tune of the Month

Turkey in the Straw

This is a well-know folk melody, first published in the 1820s and 30s. One set of words to it goes: Oh, I had a little chicken, and she wouldn't lay an egg,
So I poured some hot water, on her left-hand leg, Then I poured some hot water on her right-hand leg, Now my little chicken laid a hard-boiled egg!
